Smart Life Community

Senior Healthcare

Seniors

65+ years old

Characteristics

mental health, physical injuries, sensory impairments

- -need help getting to appointments
- -feel like a burden to their family

Loneliness & Depression

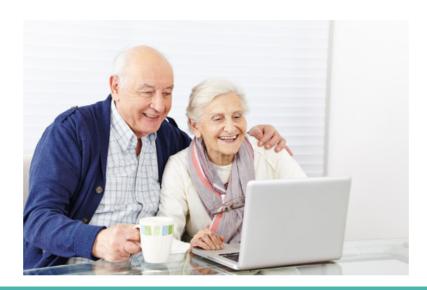

Background

- 27% of adults aged 60 and older live alone [1]
- Over 7 million adults aged 65 years and older are affected by depression in the USA [3]
- Globally, approximately 15% of adults aged 60 and over suffer from a mental health disorder [4]

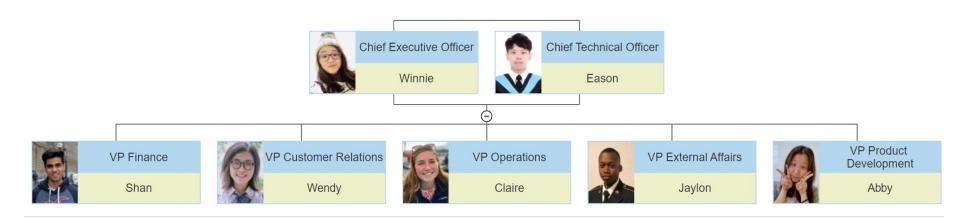

Motivation

- Give elderly the opportunity to connect with others in their community
- Technology can improve quality of life in elderly
- Example
 - My Grandma lives alone and has felt lonely as a result of covid-19 pandemic
 - My family purchased her an iPad and she has been feeling great since

Meet our team!

Our First Customer

Hi, I am Mary, I am 72 years old.

I live alone in my family house in Irvine since my husband died 2 years ago.

I have 3 kids, but they all work in New York City.

My life is simple and boring, just walking dogs and watching TV.

It feels like I was left by the world, I only have my little dog with me.

The differences between smart life community and E.T./ Rendever include:

We are affordable to the average citizen

Option for short term commitment

We mix virtual AND in person platform

We don't use volunteers, so expect full professionalism.

Competing Solutions

In terms of overall idea:

- 1. Edison Township (E.T.) May not be present in all neighbourhoods
- 2. Private Elderly Care Homes Yes, only for the rich. Plus, lifelong commitment. Ours has a monthly plan

In terms of technology

1. Rendever® Virtual Reality - Only provides VR-related services. A well developed product, can collaborate with them instead of competing. We can offer them a one-stop solution to reach-out to thousands of customers in return for lower rental fees or subscription costs.

Half year later

We did daily exercises together.

I learnt to live a healthier lifestyle.

I met friends there.

We went shopping together.

Look! How energetic I am now!

I got the beautiful tanned skin from last yoga class on the beach.

That's all of my story.

I'm going to join the virtual meditation workshop later.
